REPORT
to the
FRIENDS OF THE ARMY MEDICAL LIBRARY
and the
MEDICAL LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

This number is the last of Volume 5 of the Current List and marks the completion of the third year of this publication. The number of subscribers has continued gradually to increase and it is now evident that this plan of making the current periodical literature of medicine known widely and conveniently is fullfilling satisfactorily the needs of large numbers of those engaged in the advancement of medicine. Together with microfilm copying, it is permitting the resources of the Army Medical Library to be utilized on a far larger scale than ever before. The experiment of free microfilm copying, inaugurated with the beginning of this year, has been fully justified by the increased use which is made of it. The number of orders has grown to such an extent that the additional space required for the work has made it necessary to obtain quarters outside the present Library building for a part of the personnel engaged in indexing and in bibliographic activities. These changes and rearrangements connected with better utilization of the limited space in the building, have prevented the regularly weekly issuing of the Current List on two occasions during the year. With the exception of these two double numbers, all others, thanks to the diligence of Mrs. D. M. Hannon, our typist, and the Washington Planograph Company, our printers, have appeared regularly and promptly.

The index to Volume 3, for the period July to December 1942, was issued in August and that for Volume 4, January to June 1943, is now almost completed and will be distributed within a few weeks. It is hoped that the necessary assistance can soon be obtained to insure the more prompt completion of the indexes of each succeeding volume.

A circular letter calling attention to the recognition it was desired to make of the pioneering extention of library service which Colonel Jones made in providing free microfilm copying service, was sent to all enrolled "Friends of the Army Medical Library" during recent months. A very generous response has been received and we are pleased to announce that the portrait is now finished and it will be ready for formal presentation to the Library at a ceremony which it is hoped can be arranged in the near future.
